

LAST CHANCE TO DANCE IF YOU'RE OVER 40!

SYDNEY 40up PARTY AT THE BASEMENT, SYDNEY

Featuring the music of Barry White

With their 'ban on under 40s' making global headlines as far away as the UK (the BBC no less!), Steve Clisby and Stephen Ferris have tapped into something special with their 40up events, and have taken them to the national level over the course of 2017.

After sell-out successes in 2017, the 70s, 80s & 90s dance party is having its first 2018 Sydney event on Saturday 31st March at The Basement.

"The whole idea is that you can't even get in unless you're 40-plus, or at least bring a 40-something year old along" said performer and 40up driving force Steve Clisby. "This is how we exercise our right to be over 40 and still party, without worrying about the millennials getting in the way."

Featuring a full band as well as DJ sets and vintage music videos, 40up electrifies its fans with a soul-funk revival of classic dance hits from artists including Barry White, Temptations, Michael Jackson, Chic, Sister Sledge, Kool and the Gang, Earth Wind & Fire, Prince and more.

"We've taken the dinner & dance show concept and turned it on its head. People are always telling me that the thing they love most about my gigs is the chance to get up and dance like they used to – to the music they love. Now there's a party especially for them."

Steve Clisby and Stephen Ferris are true Australian music royalty. Clisby, in his five-decade musical career, has toured and performed around the US, Europe and Australia, and has opened for the likes of Chaka Khan, Kool & The Gang, Tina Turner and Santana. The adopted Aussie hit the charts – and Australian hearts – when he teamed up with judges Seal and Delta Goodrem on The Voice in 2013.

Stephen Ferris' unique DJ-ing talents stem from four decades of spinning hits, beginning in San Francisco where he formed his lifelong passion for soul, be it fashioned in disco, funk, hip-hop, Latin, house, jazz or pop. Ferris has built a cult following in the Sydney club and dance party scene and through his involvement with the Sydney Vivid festival. His DJ supports include Fatboy Slim, Scissor Sisters, Norman Jay and Grace Jones.

In the 40up classics party, you are guaranteed to boogie with Ferris' show-stopping DJ sets, live music from Clisby and a line-up of special guest artists. Each show features a non-stop backdrop of rare and vintage video footage from the 70s, 80s and 90s.

"We get the 40-plus crowd out to party and have a little fun. It's an alternative to a seated concert - this is more about the audience's love affair with the dance floor. Get up, 40up, and dance! And... bring ID" Clisby said.

"There's nothing quite like this in Australia that caters specifically for 40-somethings. It's all about the original music, the dance era and the fun that surrounded that time, but with a fresh, contemporary feel. This makes being older cool."
